Cancellation and refunds

Version 1.0 | Effective November 1-30, 2026 | Fictional test content

1. Customer cancellation

At least 24 hours before start

Cancel at least 24 hours before the booked start time for a full refund of the parking charge. Exactly 24 hours before start qualifies for the full refund. The reservation becomes cancelled and its interval is released.

Less than 24 hours before start

Cancel before the booked start but less than 24 hours ahead for a 50 percent refund of the parking charge. At the start time or later, no customer-cancellation refund is offered under this mock policy.

How to cancel

Use the reservation cancellation action or contact help@northgate.example with the reservation ID. Cancellation is effective when accepted and confirmed. A request to change a booking is not itself a cancellation.

2. No-shows, early exits and closures

Late arrival and no-show

A late arrival retains the original booked end time. The space remains reserved for the full paid interval unless the reservation is cancelled. A no-show receives no refund; the sample database does not use a separate no-show status.

Early departure

Leaving early does not automatically cancel the remaining hours and does not generate a partial refund. The customer may still use the space until the original end time, subject to the entry rules.

Operator cancellation

If the operator cannot supply the space, support may offer an equivalent replacement with customer consent. If there is no accepted replacement, refund the unused parking period in full. A closure before the stay begins therefore results in a full parking refund.

3. Refund calculation and examples

Refund processing

Refunds return to the original payment method. The mock processing target is five business days after acceptance; banking delays may add time. Charging energy already consumed is excluded from parking refunds. Keep the cancellation confirmation until the credit arrives.

Timing examples

For a November 10 booking starting at 10:00, cancellation by November 9 at 10:00 earns a full parking refund. Cancellation on November 9 at 12:00 earns 50 percent. Cancellation on November 10 at 10:00 earns no customer-cancellation refund.

Amount example

A four-hour standard booking at Central Courtyard costs PLN 32.00. Its full refund is PLN 32.00; its 50 percent refund is PLN 16.00. This example concerns parking only and assumes no separately consumed charging energy.
